Adrine Adjemian concentrates her practice in the area of retirement plans and advises clients on issues regarding 401(k), profit sharing, cash balance, and traditional defined benefit plans. She also regularly works with multiemployer plans and plans of tax-exempt entities, public schools, and universities, including 403(b) and 457 plans.

Adrine assists clients with drafting plan documents, SPDs and amendments; preparing employee communications; analyzing plan administrative and fiduciary issues; reviewing business associate agreements; ERISA, COBRA; preparing submissions to the Internal Revenue Service and Department of Labor; reviewing qualified domestic relations orders (QDROs); preparing plan committee charters, bylaws, and resolutions; and resolving ERISA and Internal Revenue Code compliance issues raised in connection with investigations or audits by the Department of Labor or Internal Revenue Service. She also assists with the review and negotiation of service provider agreements, including investment management agreements.

In addition to qualified retirement plans, Adrine has experience advising on issues related to group health plans and a variety of other employee benefits.

Adrine serves on the Board of the National Institute of Pension Administrators (NIPA) and is a member of the American Bar Association, Western Pension & Benefits Council and Queen's Bench Bar Association of the San Francisco Bay Area.

During law school, Adrine served as a judicial extern to the Honorable Andrew J. Wistrich of the Central District of California. She also served on the executive board of the Berkeley Business Law Journal.
